

CONTENTS

I INTRODUCTION

1 Introduction

- 1.1 Motivation
- 1.2 Objectives
- 1.3 Structure of the Document

II STATE OF THE ART

2 State of the Art

- 2.1 Introduction
- 2.2 Argumentation Theory
 - 2.2.1 Dialogue Typology
 - 2.2.2 Dialogue Games
 - 2.2.3 Argumentation schemes
- 2.3 Argumentation in AI
- 2.4 Current Applications of Argumentation in AI
- 2.5 Research approaches in CBR-based argumentation for MAS
 - 2.5.1 The PERSUADER system
 - 2.5.2 CBR for Argumentation with Multiple Points of View
 - 2.5.3 Case-based Negotiation Model for Reflective Agents
 - 2.5.4 Argument-based selection Model (ProCLAIM)
 - 2.5.5 Argumentation-based Multi-Agent Learning (AMAL)
 - 2.5.6 General Analysis
- 2.6 Open Research Issues
 - 2.6.1 Argumentation in Agent Societies
 - 2.6.2 Case-based Argument Representation
 - 2.6.3 CBR Roles in the Argumentation Process
 - 2.6.4 Case-base Consistency Matters
 - 2.6.5 Trust and Reputation
- 2.7 Conclusions

III PROPOSAL

3 Proposed Framework

- 3.1 Introduction
- 3.2 Requirements for an Argumentation Framework for Agent Societies
 - 3.2.1 Society Model
 - 3.2.2 Computational Requirements for Arguments in Agent Societies
- 3.3 Knowledge Resources
 - 3.3.1 ArgCBROnto Ontology: General Concepts
 - 3.3.2 Argument-case Description
- 3.4 Abstract Argumentation Framework for Agent Societies
- 3.5 Case-based Argumentation Framework for Agent Societies
 - 3.5.1 The Notion of Argument: Case-Based Arguments
 - 3.5.2 The Logical Language
 - 3.5.3 The Concept of Conflict between arguments
 - 3.5.4 The Notion of Defeat between arguments
 - 3.5.5 The Acceptability Status of arguments
- 3.6 Reasoning Process
 - 3.6.1 Position Management
 - 3.6.2 Argument Management
- 3.7 Conclusions

4 Dialogue Game Protocol

- 4.1 Preliminaries
- 4.2 Syntax
- 4.3 Dialogue Strategies
- 4.4 Semantics
 - 4.4.1 Axiomatic Semantics
 - 4.4.2 Operational Semantics

4.5 Conclusions

IV EVALUATION

5 Application

- 5.1 mWater: Water-rights Negotiation Prototype
- 5.2 Example Scenario
- 5.3 Abstract Argumentation Framework
- 5.4 Reasoning Process
- 5.5 Discussion

6 Application to Customer Support

- 6.1 Call Center Study Case
- 6.2 Implementation Details
- 6.3 Evaluation Criteria
- 6.4 Evaluation Tests
 - 6.4.1 Testing the Performance
 - 6.4.2 Testing the Argumentation Strategies
 - 6.4.3 Testing the Social Context
- 6.5 Conclusions

V CONCLUSIONS

7 Conclusions

- 7.1 Contributions
- 7.2 Future Lines of Research
- 7.3 Related Publications

BIBLIOGRAPHY